Generalization of Palestinians as Militants	“All Palestinians in Gaza are under Hamas' control”	July 2024, US Congress Middle East Eye	Broadly linking all Gazans to Hamas	Suggests that civilians in Gaza are complicit or affiliated with Hamas, ignoring civilian needs and identities	Reinforces stereotypes, justifies harsh military actions	Use specific language to differentiate civilians from militant actors. Frame civilians as separate from Hamas to emphasize humanitarian focus.
Framing Palestinians as Existential Threats	“We must hit the Palestinians hard to defend Israel”	October 2024, Al Jazeera The Times of Israel	Use of “must hit” implying aggression as necessary	Frames Palestinians as a threat that must be controlled through force, potentially inciting hostility	Encourages public support for aggression, alienates peaceful segments of society	Emphasize defensive language, measured language. Focus on de-escalation and diplomatic approach es when discussing regional security.

Accusations of Widespread Complicity	“Palestinians in Gaza are stealing aid meant for others”	July 2024, Middle East Eye Middle East Eye	Suggests that all Palestinians misuse humanitarian aid	Generalizes Palestinian behavior, promoting distrust and reinforcing prejudice	Fuels distrust, impacts humanitarian response, damages international image of Israel's ethical commitment	Encourage transparency on humanitarian operations. Avoid generalized claims and specify documented cases if addressing aid diversion.
Historical Comparisons as Incitement	“Palestinians are like the Biblical Amalek”	October 2023, Al Jazeera The Times of Israel	Comparing Palestinians to Amalek, a Biblical enemy	Casts Palestinians as a perpetual adversary, invoking religious and historical enmity	Deepens animosity, validates extremist responses, alienates allies	Avoid inflammatory historical references. Focus on contemporary political and social issues without invoking religious antagonisms.

Claims of Civilian Protection while Continuing Aggression	“No military takes more precautions to protect civilians than Israel”	July 2024, UN Speech The Times of Israel	Asserting protective measures amid heavy military action	Justifies ongoing aggression by framing it as more humane compared to others, potentially diminishing harm perception	Desensitizes public to civilian casualties, risks international criticism	Provide verifiable data on protective measures; pair military action with genuine humanitarian outreach.
Demonizing Palestinian Authority (PA) Officials	“The PA has betrayed its people by supporting terrorists”	November 2024, Times of Israel The Times of Israel	Labels PA as traitors for alleged terrorist affiliations	Equates political disagreements with disloyalty, reinforcing distrust in Palestinian leadership	Weakens peace prospects by undermining moderate leadership	Promote diplomatic discourse by distinguishing between PA policy critiques and Palestinian national interests. Avoid inflammatory accusations.

Summary of Mitigation Strategies

1. Precision in Language: Avoid broad or general terms that encompass all Palestinians. Differentiate between militant groups and civilian populations to foster a narrative that respects humanitarian considerations.

2. Transparency on Humanitarian Policies: When discussing issues like aid or civilian protection, use data and specifics to counteract any unintended generalizations that might incite hostility or distrust.
 3. Refrain from Historical Comparisons: Invoking historical or religious conflicts can intensify animosity. Focus on present-day contexts and policies to avoid perpetuating outdated enmities.
 4. Use Diplomatic Language: When addressing Palestinian authorities or Palestinian leadership, avoid inflammatory labels and accusations that could jeopardize peace negotiations or worsen relations with moderate Palestinian groups.
 5. Frame Conflict Resolution Responsibly: Emphasize balanced language that supports peace and conflict resolution, and clearly articulate Israel's stance on minimizing harm in conflict settings.
