PEACE • UNITY • DEMOCRACY •
RECONCILIATION

Executive Summary

This proposal outlines a peaceful, democratic, and constitutional pathway for Canada to fully modernize its governance by transitioning away from the British monarchy while strengthening Indigenous sovereignty, restoring stewardship over Crown lands, and reinforcing Canadian democratic independence.

This mission is grounded in:

- Non-violence and Constitutional law
 - Democratic participation and national unity
 - Treaty obligations and Reconciliation with Indigenous nations

1. Foundational Principles

1.1 Peaceful Constitutional Reform

All changes proposed in this mission must occur through Parliamentary debate, provincial cooperation, and democratic consent. No coercion or unlawful action is supported.

1.2 Recognition of Indigenous Sovereignty

This proposal recognizes the original nations of Turtle Island, historic treaties, and the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP).

2. Constitutional Independence

2.1 National Constitutional Convention

Establish a multi-year convention involving federal, provincial, and Indigenous governments to examine replacing the monarch as head of state while protecting provincial autonomy.

2.2 Democratic Referendum

Hold a national referendum following transparent public education and independent Indigenous consultation processes.

3. Indigenous Land Restoration

3.1 Crown Land Review Commission

Create an independent commission to review federal Crown lands, particularly those with unresolved treaty disputes or ecological sensitivity.

“The time for symbolic change has passed. The time for meaningful transformation is now. Together, let us build a Canada that is free, just, united, and forward-looking.”

4. Economic and Civic Renewal

Focus on civic education initiatives, shared economic development, and renewable energy partnerships between the state and Indigenous nations.

5. Proposed Timeline

Phase I (1–2 Years): Convention and Commission launch.

Phase II (3–5 Years): Draft reforms and referendum prep.

Phase III (5–10 Years): Full transition implementation.

Submitted in good faith as a citizen initiative dedicated to peace and unity.
