
DECLARATION OF SOVEREIGN RECONSTITUTION

and Establishment of Kanatawi

THE PEACEFUL ALLIANCE OF NATIVE NATIONS

PREAMBLE

We, the Indigenous Nations and Peoples of these lands, affirm that we existed as sovereign peoples long before the creation of Canada, its provinces, its Crowns, and its monarchy.

We affirm that our sovereignty was never surrendered, extinguished, or lawfully transferred.

We affirm that the authority claimed by the Crown in Right of Canada and the Crowns in Right of the Provinces is founded upon doctrines of discovery, conquest, and unilateral assertion, none of which constitute lawful consent or legitimate governance.

We affirm that successive Canadian governments have enacted laws and policies, including but not limited to Bill C-5, that purport to regulate, override, or alienate Indigenous lands and jurisdictions without free, prior, and informed consent, in violation of Indigenous law, natural law, and international law.

We affirm that reconciliation without restitution, consent, and structural transformation is a falsehood that perpetuates domination rather than justice.

We affirm that the continued existence of the Crown and monarchy in Canada represents an ongoing colonial structure incompatible with Indigenous sovereignty, democratic legitimacy, and the right of peoples to self-determination.

Therefore, acting in inherent sovereignty and collective self-determination, we hereby declare the following.

ARTICLE I: NULLIFICATION OF CROWN AUTHORITY

1. All claims of sovereignty, underlying title, radical title, or ultimate authority asserted by:

- the Crown in Right of Canada, and
- the Crowns in Right of the Provinces

over Indigenous lands and peoples are hereby rejected, nullified, and declared without legitimate foundation.

2. The Crown, as a legal, political, and constitutional construct, is declared illegitimate and incompatible with Indigenous sovereignty and democratic governance.

3. No authority derived from the Crown shall be recognized on Indigenous lands.

ARTICLE II: CANCELLATION OF COLONIAL LEGISLATION

1. Any federal or provincial statute, regulation, order, policy, or administrative act—including Bill C-5—that:
 - infringes Indigenous lands or jurisdictions,
 - bypasses free, prior, and informed consent, or
 - facilitates expropriation, development, or regulatory overrideis hereby declared void and without effect as against Indigenous Nations.
2. No law enacted without Indigenous consent shall be recognized as lawful, binding, or enforceable.

ARTICLE III: RESTORATION OF LAND AND JURISDICTION

1. All lands presently designated as “Crown land,” whether federal or provincial, are hereby declared to be Indigenous lands.
2. Title, jurisdiction, stewardship, and governance over such lands vest fully and exclusively in the Indigenous Nations whose territories they occupy, according to their own laws, traditions, and governance systems.

3. Existing treaties are recognized only insofar as they are consistent with Indigenous sovereignty and remain subject to renegotiation on a nation-to-nation basis.

ARTICLE IV: DISSOLUTION OF THE MONARCHY AND CROWNS

1. The monarchy and all Crown institutions operating within Canada are hereby declared:
 - obsolete,
 - illegitimate, and
 - incompatible with Indigenous sovereignty and democratic self-rule.
2. All references to “the Crown” in law, governance, enforcement, or property are rejected and replaced with the concept of elected, accountable, civilian government, subject to Indigenous consent and jurisdiction.

ARTICLE V: DISSOLUTION OF COLONIAL ENFORCEMENT STRUCTURES

1. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), as an instrument of Crown authority, is declared without jurisdiction on Indigenous lands.
2. Indigenous Nations retain full and exclusive authority to establish their own peacekeeping, justice, and public safety institutions in accordance with their laws, values, and traditions.

ARTICLE VI: ESTABLISHMENT OF KANATAWI

1. A new political and territorial alliance is hereby established under the name:

KANATAWI

The Peaceful Alliance of Native Nations

2. Kanatawi is founded upon the principles of:
 - Indigenous sovereignty,
 - mutual non-aggression,
 - peaceful coexistence,
 - ecological stewardship, and
 - consensual governance.
3. Kanatawi does not seek domination, conquest, or exclusion, but affirms the inherent right of Indigenous Nations to govern, steward, and protect their lands free from imposed authority.

ARTICLE VII: TRANSITION AND RELATIONS

1. Non-Indigenous residents within Indigenous territories are recognized as human beings entitled to safety, dignity, and basic rights, subject to the laws and agreements established by the Indigenous Nations.
