

Global Indictment of the British Monarchy for Crimes of Land Theft and Genocide Against Indigenous Populations

Issued by: Marie Seshat Landry, Founder & CEO, Marie Landry's Spy Shop

Date: August 5, 2025

Document Type: Public OSINT-Powered Criminal Indictment

Executive Summary

This indictment formally accuses the British Monarchy as an institution of orchestrating, perpetuating, and profiting from systematic land theft, genocide, and cultural erasure of indigenous populations worldwide. Supported by open-source intelligence (OSINT), this document serves as a global historical truth declaration, calling for international recognition of the Crown's colonial crimes and demanding reparations, land returns, and legal accountability.

Indictment Overview

Defendant: The British Monarchy (The Crown, House of Windsor, and all historical dynasties directly linked to the British Imperial Project)

Primary Charges: 1. Genocide (UN Genocide Convention, 1948) 2. Crimes Against Humanity (Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court, Article 7) 3. Aggressive War and Colonial Conquest (Nuremberg Principles, 1950) 4. Illegal Land Appropriation and Resource Plunder (Customary International Law & Indigenous Rights Declarations)

OSINT Evidence Summary

1. The Americas (North, Central, South)

- Canada: The Crown's role in the forced displacement of First Nations, Métis, and Inuit peoples through treaties of coercion, residential school systems (Truth and Reconciliation Commission, 2015), and ongoing land encroachments (e.g., Wet'suwet'en territory pipeline invasions).
- United States: British-initiated wars of conquest and displacement (e.g., Proclamation of 1763 violations) catalyzed indigenous genocides that set precedents for U.S. expansionism.
- Caribbean: Enslavement and extermination of Arawak, Taino, and Carib peoples, documented by early colonists and later validated by historical demography studies.

2. Africa

- South Africa: British Crown responsible for the Anglo-Zulu War (1879) and systemic land dispossession under Apartheid-era legal precedents, a direct extension of colonial land theft policies.
- Kenya: Mau Mau Rebellion atrocities (1952-1960), including torture, concentration camps, and land seizures, now publicly acknowledged through declassified British government documents (National Archives, UK).

3. Asia-Pacific

- India: British Raj's engineered famines (Bengal Famine of 1943), resulting in millions of deaths, alongside theft of sovereign lands through the East India Company's military-industrial occupation.
- Australia & New Zealand: Terra nullius doctrine as a legal fiction to justify dispossession and genocide of Aboriginal and Maori peoples. Mabo Decision (1992) overturned this legal myth, confirming its fraudulent basis.

4. Middle East & Other Regions

- Palestine: The Balfour Declaration (1917) as an imperial act of land allocation without consent of indigenous populations, sowing seeds of ongoing geopolitical conflicts.
- Ireland: The Crown's centuries-long suppression and expropriation of Irish lands, culminating in the Great Famine (1845-1852), a colonial genocide by engineered starvation.

Systemic Mechanisms of Colonial Land Theft

- Legal Fictions: Doctrines of Discovery, Terra Nullius, Royal Charters
- Violence and Military Conquest: State-sanctioned massacres, forced removals
- Economic Plunder: Resource extraction (gold, diamonds, spices, opium)
- Cultural Erasure: Imposition of English legal systems, language suppression, and cultural genocide

Demands for Global Restitution

1. Full Land Restitution to Indigenous Nations where possible.
2. Financial Reparations calculated based on resource theft and generational harms.
3. Formal Apologies and Legal Admissions of Guilt from the British Monarchy.
4. Establishment of an International Tribunal for Colonial Crimes.
5. Abolition of Crown Immunities and dissolution of remaining colonial structures (e.g., Commonwealth oversight).

Conclusion

This indictment stands as an OSINT-powered declaration of accountability. The British Monarchy, through centuries of state-sponsored violence, deception, and theft, has accumulated power and wealth built on the suffering of indigenous peoples across all continents. The global community can no longer tolerate the erasure and revisionism of these crimes. Justice demands truth, reparations, and systemic dismantling of colonial legacies.
