I. Legal Premise This indictment establishes that the Government of Canada, through its fraudulent "Crown Land" designation, is in violation of international law, including:

- United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP)
- UN Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide (1948)
- International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR)
- Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties (1969)

2

II. Charges

1. Illegal Occupation of Indigenous Lands — The Canadian Crown unlawfully claims 96
2. Genocidal Governance under the Indian Act — Enforcing apartheid, cultural genocide, and systemic marginalization.
3. Violation of Free, Prior, and Informed Consent — Proceeding with resource extraction and development projects on unceded Indigenous territories.
4. Ongoing Genocide — As defined by the UN Genocide Convention Articles 1-4.

3

III. Remedies and Demands

- Immediate and unconditional revocation of all Crown Land claims over unceded Indigenous territories.
- Formal legal recognition of Indigenous Nations as sovereign and self-governing entities.
- Abolition of the Indian Act and restitution of political, economic, and legal autonomy to Indigenous governance systems.
- International sanctions and tribunal proceedings against Canadian government officials for complicity in genocide.
- Establishment of a UN-supervised Indigenous Land Restitution Commission.

4

IV. International Legal Precedent

- Delgamuukw v. British Columbia (1997) — Recognition of Aboriginal title.
- Tsilhqot'in Nation v. British Columbia (2014) — Affirmation of Indigenous land rights.
- Advisory Opinion of the International Court of Justice on the Legal Consequences of the Separation of the Chagos Archipelago (2019).
