Why are licence plate covers illegal ?

They are illegal because criminals use them on their getaway cars. They are used by all kinds of criminals for all kinds of crimes from theft to kidnappings to murders. They make it hard to read the licence plates for the victims and the police. It makes it hard to report crimes, and that is why covering your licence plates with anything is illegal on the streets. They are sold in stores but can only be used on private property like a car show. It is NOT street legal and by law results in a FINE. Rookie cops often give out warnings for these but know that is a problem in New-Brunswick. In fact the fine should be raised from 172.50$ to 500$ to make it worthwhile for the police to arrest those criminals. That is my suggestion to clear the approx 10000 covered plates in New-Brunswick. Ticket them ! Report them ! Take pictures and share them ! BE CAUTIOUS AROUND THOSE CARS, THEY ARE NOT STREET LEGAL AND COULD CONTAIN OTHER ILLEGAL THINGS AND ARE LITERALLY GETAWAY CARS FOR CRIME.
