

Universal Declaration for Organic Future

Based on the details provided and incorporating principles from various universal declarations, here is a draft of your declaration focusing on outlawing non-organic practices by 2030, triggering environmental investigations, legalizing organic plant-based drugs, and promoting organic life protection, vegan peace, interspecies communication, trade, and ending hunger through large-scale organic agriculture:

Universal Declaration for Organic Future

Preamble

Recognizing the inherent rights of all organic life and the urgent need to address the environmental destruction caused by non-organic practices, we commit to a future where sustainability, vegan peace, and interspecies communication prevail. This declaration aims to establish a framework for protecting organic life, promoting large-scale organic agriculture, and ensuring the well-being of all species.

Article 1: Outlawing Non-Organic Practices

By the year 2030, all non-organic agricultural and industrial practices shall be outlawed. A comprehensive investigation into the war on nature and the individuals and entities responsible for environmental destruction will be conducted, holding them accountable for their actions.

Article 2: Legalization of Organic Plant-Based Drugs

All organic plant-based drugs shall be legal. This includes but is not limited to cannabis and other medicinal plants. Regulatory frameworks will be established to ensure safe and equitable access, promoting public health and harm reduction.

Article 3: Protection of Organic Life

All organic life, including plants, animals, and microorganisms, shall be protected under the Universal Declaration of Organic Rights (UDOR). This includes safeguarding biodiversity, preserving natural habitats, and promoting humane treatment of all species.

Article 4: Promoting Vegan Peace

Vegan peace, emphasizing the reduction of harm to all living beings, shall be a cornerstone of societal development. This includes the promotion of plant-based diets, reduction of animal exploitation, and fostering compassion and coexistence among all species.

Article 5: Interspecies Communication and Trade

Interspecies communication and trade shall be encouraged and supported. This involves respecting and understanding the needs and rights of all species, facilitating ethical and sustainable trade practices that benefit both humans and other beings.

Article 6: Ending Hunger and Malnutrition

Large-scale organic agriculture shall be implemented to end hunger and malnutrition. Emphasis will be placed on sustainable farming practices, equitable distribution of resources, and ensuring access to nutritious organic food for all individuals.

Article 7: Implementation and Monitoring

Mechanisms shall be established for the implementation and monitoring of these principles. This includes setting up bodies responsible for overseeing the transition to organic practices, enforcing legal frameworks, and ensuring compliance with the declaration's goals.
