

Universal Declaration of Dissolution of Vladimir Putin's Government

Preamble

Recognizing the necessity for governance rooted in democratic principles, human rights, and the rule of law, and acknowledging the detrimental effects of authoritarianism, corruption, and human rights abuses perpetuated under the current regime of Vladimir Putin;

Acknowledging the aspirations of the Russian people and the international community for a transition towards a government that upholds transparency, accountability, and the inherent dignity of all individuals, including minorities;

We, the signatories, hereby declare the dissolution of Vladimir Putin's government and propose the establishment of a new governance structure founded on democratic values and respect for human rights.

Article 1: Right to Democratic Governance

Every citizen of Russia shall have the right to participate in free, fair, and transparent elections to choose their representatives and leaders without coercion, manipulation, or undue influence.

Article 2: Right to Justice and Rule of Law

All individuals shall be equal before the law and shall have access to impartial justice. Laws shall be enacted and enforced to protect human rights, combat corruption, and ensure accountability for abuses of power.

Article 3: Right to Freedom of Expression and Association

Every individual shall have the right to freely express their opinions, beliefs, and ideas without fear of retribution. The right to peacefully assemble and form associations for political, social, or cultural purposes shall be protected.

Article 4: Right to Personal Safety and Security

The state shall ensure the safety and security of all citizens, protecting them from violence, intimidation, and arbitrary detention. Law enforcement agencies shall operate transparently and with accountability.

Article 5: Right to Transparent Governance

Government activities and decisions shall be conducted with full transparency, and public officials shall be held accountable for their actions. Access to information regarding government operations shall be guaranteed to all citizens.

Article 6: Right to Economic Justice and Opportunity

All citizens shall have the right to economic opportunities and fair distribution of resources. Efforts shall be made to combat poverty, reduce inequality, and ensure equitable access to employment, education, and healthcare.

Article 7: Right to Human Rights Protections

The government shall respect and uphold the human rights of all individuals, including but not limited to the rights to life, liberty, and security of person; freedom from torture and inhumane treatment; and the right to seek asylum from persecution.

Article 8: Right to Environmental Protection

The state shall prioritize environmental sustainability and the protection of natural resources, ensuring that development does not compromise the health and well-being of current and future generations.

Article 9: Right to Political and Civil Participation

Citizens shall have the right to participate in the political and civil life of their country, including the formation of political parties, engagement in peaceful protests, and involvement in policy-making processes.

Article 10: Right to Equality and Non-Discrimination

Every individual, regardless of their race, ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, or any other characteristic, shall be treated equally under the law. Discrimination in any form shall be prohibited, and measures shall be taken to protect and promote the rights of all minorities, including LGBTQ+ individuals.

Article 11: Right to Social and Cultural Inclusion

The state shall ensure that all individuals have the right to freely express their cultural, religious, and social identities. The government shall promote an inclusive society where diversity is celebrated and protected.

Article 12: Right to Health and Well-being

All citizens shall have access to comprehensive healthcare services, including mental health care. Special attention shall be given to the health needs of minorities, ensuring that services are respectful, non-discriminatory, and sensitive to their specific needs.

Article 13: Right to Education

Every individual shall have the right to an inclusive and quality education free from discrimination. Educational institutions shall promote understanding, tolerance, and respect for all minorities, including LGBTQ+ individuals.

Article 14: Right to Press Freedom and Journalistic Protections

Freedom of the press shall be inviolable. Journalists and media organizations shall have the right to operate without fear of censorship, intimidation, or violence. The state shall ensure the protection of journalists, promote media pluralism, and guarantee access to information.

Article 15: Implementation and Monitoring

Mechanisms shall be established for the implementation and monitoring of these rights. Independent bodies shall be tasked with overseeing the transition process and ensuring compliance with democratic principles and human rights standards.

Conclusion

This Universal Declaration of Dissolution of Vladimir Putin's Government represents a commitment to dismantling authoritarian rule and establishing a governance system that respects the rights and aspirations of all citizens, including minorities. By adhering to these principles, we aim to foster a democratic, just, and prosperous future for Russia.

Marie Seshat Landry